

TV Western's Stars Will Ride in Parade

It Will Start At 11:30 A. m. On Saturday

Historical Society Will Be Presented Film of New Show

Saturday will be a big day in Sedalia when Cliff Eastwood and Eric Fleming, the two top stars in a new one-hour TV western, "Rawhide," will be in town and will ride in the parade which will be held at 11:30 a.m. in the downtown section of the city.

This will be followed by a luncheon which is open to the public and will be held at 12:15 p.m. in the Ambassador Room of the Bothwell Hotel. Reservations for the luncheon must be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office.

Sedalia moved quickly when Jim Hardiman, manager of explorations, from Hollywood, Calif., contacted Mayor Abe Silverman, and at a meeting Friday plans were made by the mayor, Jack Faber, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce and other Chamber representatives for the appearance.

With less than 48 hours notice Tom Nash, co-chairman of the public relations committee, of which E. L. McClung is director, has arranged a parade in which the stars will ride horseback, and there will be the Smith-Cotton High School Band, color guard and drum and bugle corps from Whiteman Air Force Base, officials of the city, county and Whiteman Air Force Base, and the Saddle Clubs. Exactly what else Nash doesn't know because it is a short time in which to build a parade.

The luncheon will begin with a welcome address by Mayor Silverman, followed by a short talk by Donald S. Lamm, chairman of the Centennial, and then one of the films of the new series, "Rawhide," will be shown, after which it will be presented to the Pettis County Historical Society.

The film will be accepted by George H. Scruton, president of the Pettis County Historical Society, who will then present to the two stars Cliff Eastwood and Eric Fleming scrolls making them honorary members of the Pettis County Historical Society.

The reason Sedalia has been chosen as the kickoff for the CBS television series, which will run for a minimum of 40 weeks and may be seen on Channel 2, in St. Joseph, and Channel 5, in Kansas City, is that the story, which is a true one, deals with the early experiences of driving cattle from Texas to Sedalia which was the railroad point at that time from which the cattle were shipped.

Jim Hardiman stated that throughout the series Sedalia will be mentioned again and again, and will be very valuable publicity to the city if it is like Dodge City, Kansas, featured in "Gunsmoke," which was written by Charles Marquis Warren, who is also the author of "Rawhide." Due to "Gunsmoke" Dodge City has become a real tourist spot, with a growth for the town and many new motels being built.

Following the luncheon Saturday Hardiman plans to have pictures taken around Sedalia which will (Please turn to page 2, column 1)

Filibuster Proposal Rejected

Action Is Striking Victory for Demo Leader Johnson

WASHINGTON — The US Senate today turned down a key proposal designed by civil rights advocates to clear the way for a tight new curb on filibusters.

The roll call vote was the first test of strength in the swirling battle over rules touched off with the start of the new Senate session two days ago.

It marked a striking victory for Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and other Democratic and Republican Senate leaders backing a compromise offered by Johnson.

Conversely, it was a major setback for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and a bipartisan anti-filibuster bloc of northern and western senators.

The vote came on a motion by Johnson to table and thus kill a resolution by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM). Anderson's aim was to establish that each new Senate has the right to adopt its own rules by majority vote at the start of a session.

The anti-filibuster forces were still far from giving up.

Nixon had expressed the opinion that the Senate has a constitutional right to make new rules each session, but he said it was an issue that would have to be decided by the Senate itself.

Leaders of the anti-filibuster forces regarded the Anderson motion as crucially important. Its adoption would have paved the way for them to seek a tight debate-limitation rule free from the restrictions of prior rules.

Johnson and other opponents argued that the Senate, with only a third of its members elected every two years, is a continuing body with rules carrying over from one Congress to another.

They said Anderson's motion would leave the Senate without any rules and open up a Pandora's box of confusion.

He added a new section to provide that the rules of the Senate in the present Congress should be identical with those in the previous Congress except for Rule 22 which spells out how debate may be cut off.

President Challenges New Congress to Follow Budget

Eisenhower Delivers His State of Union Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today challenged the heavily Democratic new Congress to meet the Communist threat by living within his 77-billion-dollar budget and working toward tax relief "in the foreseeable future."

In a State of the Union message outlining administration plans for building a better and stronger America in this space age of catastrophic war possibilities, the President said his formula is designed to preserve this nation's way of life.

Useless expenditures, he said, "might tend to undermine the economy and therefore the nation's safety."

His 5,000-word address, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of the Senate and House, also set forth these other highlight proposals calling for:

1. Enactment of new civil rights legislation to be submitted to Congress soon without being specific about the legislation, the President deplored closing of some public schools in the integration controversy, and pledged anew he will take every action necessary to enforce the law as interpreted by the courts.

2. New laws aimed at wiping out "corruption, racketeering, and abuse of power and trust in labor-management affairs." Eisenhower expressed disappointment the last Congress, also Democratic-controlled, did not act in this field despite disclosures by the investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

3. Amendment of the 1946 full employment law "to make it clear that the government intends to use all appropriate means to protect the buying power of the dollar."

The President did not specify just what he has in mind, but he again called on labor and business leaders to exercise self-restraint to curb the wage-price spiral. And he announced he will set up a Cabinet committee on price stability for economic growth.

4. Passage of new farm legislation designed to reduce heavy federal outlays in that field eventually, and to assure "greater freedom for markets to reflect the wishes of producers and consumers."

As in the case of the others, Eisenhower went into no detail on the farm program. The specific provisions of all the programs will be set forth in a series of special messages to Congress in the next several weeks.

Eisenhower told Congress the nation's economy is strong and healthy, and that the 1958 business recession is fading into history.

"Personal income," he said, "is at an all-time high."

Eisenhower said his military budget will advance "a sensible posture of defense," along with increased efficiency and avoidance of waste.

But, he added at another point, "The basic question facing us today is more than mere survival—the military defense of national life and territory. It is the preservation of a way of life."

"We must meet the world challenge and at the same time permit no stagnation in America," he said.

"Unless we progress, we regress."

He said spending will increase for health programs, federal aid for science and education, city redevelopment, and federal aid for highways.

Recommendations Given

Fire Inspection Made In Parochial Schools

A fire safety inspection of Sedalia parochial schools, similar to the inspection of public schools, has been completed, and recommendations for the correction of discrepancies have been forwarded to Father Nolan of St. Patrick's Church, and Father Laudick of Sacred Heart.

At St. Patrick's, the inspectors recommended that all exits leading out of the basement be marked as exits, and panic hardware be installed on all exit doors.

Openings in the kitchen and storeroom ceiling in the basement should be enclosed, the firemen reported.

It was recommended that a fire extinguisher suitable for burning liquid or electrical fires be installed in the kitchen, and to relocate the fire extinguishers now in the building to a more suitable location.

The west exit door on the first floor should remain unlocked, and necessary repairs should be made to provide an approved exit for the west side of the school, the inspectors reported.

It was recommended that consideration be given to replacing the wooden stairway leading from the first floor to the second floor.

At Sacred Heart, the inspectors reported poor housekeeping in Room 8.

They recommended that the west door in Room 6 be marked as an exit door, and that the door be re-hung so that it will swing back north and not obstruct the exit-way to the outside.

It was recommended that a fire extinguisher suitable for electrical fires be installed in the boiler room, and to relocate the water type fire extinguisher now in the boiler room.

All paint, thinner and other combustible liquids should be stored in a metal covered cabinet, the inspectors reported, and consideration should be given to a safer location for the storage of paper and trash than in the basement storeroom.

An exit light in the gym room should be repaired. It was recommended that an exit sign in five-inch letters be provided, to show the way to outside exits from the lounge room and balcony of the gym room. Arrows, five inches or more in height, should indicate the location of the fire escape on the second floor on the west side.

The firemen recommended that consideration be given to the installation of an approved type fire escape on the west side of the building.

The remaining school, Mark Twain, will be discussed next.)

Election of Officers

Development Council Has Annual Meeting

The first annual meeting of the Mid-Missouri Development Council, which was officially organized during a meeting in Sedalia last January, was held at the place of its birth, the Old Missouri Homestead, Thursday evening.

At the Thursday meeting, the organization held its annual election of officers, and the original officers and executive committee members were renamed for another term. They are:

C. L. Harper, Sturgeon banker, president; J. M. Allton, Columbia, vice-president, and Travis John, Vienna, secretary-treasurer. Other committee members are F. Joe Delong, Jefferson City; Francis Knollmeyer, Linn; Walter Hoeker, Marshall, and Arthur J. Morgan of Sedalia.

Harper presided over the meeting. In his opening talk, he brought out how the organization was born last year, and how the operation got started. "We have seen a lot of progress," he stated, "because we now have about 50 per cent of the eligible cities participating in the organization."

He pointed out that it is as important to keep young Missourians in the state as it is to attract new industries. "It's like protecting our investment," he stated, "because it takes about $15,000 to raise a boy to age 19, and about $800 more to raise a girl to the same age. If they leave the state we stand to lose a big chunk of money."

Following his opening address he asked for a roll call, and 24 cities answered. Sedalia was represented by Art Morgan, chairman of the industrial development committee of the Sedalia chamber of commerce which sponsored the event; William B. Rich, Missouri Public Service Co.; Aaron Haller, Haller Office Equipment Co.; Julius Stohr, Missouri Public Service Co.; Claude Boul, Sedalia Industrial Loan and Investment Co.; Jack Faber, secretary-manager of the Sedalia chamber of commerce; William F. Brown, Sedalia attorney; William Hopkins, president of the Sedalia chamber of commerce; Dan Robinson, Bryant Motor Co.; and members of the local press, radio and television.

Minutes of previous meetings were read and approved. A brochure on the industrial potential of the area, being prepared for publication, was explained, and several possible organization insignia designs were shown.

Travis John made the secretary's report, and four new members-at-large of the board of directors were named. They are C. L. Harper, president; Homer Ferguson, Jefferson City; R. V. Nicholas, Marshall; and Claude Boul of Sedalia.

President Harper then paid tribute to the University of Missouri for the invaluable assistance rendered during the past year, followed by the election of officers. In his acceptance talk, Harper stated "There is a tremendous amount of money invested by you people, and the communities you represent. When you showed me that you were interested in the promotion of this organization, I can only say that I am willing to accept it."

Accidents

A two-car accident occurred at 5:10 p.m. Thursday between Fourth and Fifth Streets on South Ohio. There were no injuries.

It involved a 1950 Packard being driven from a parking place by Helene Louise Rodick, 1420 State Fair Boulevard, and a 1949 Plymouth driven north on Ohio by Calvin W. Reneau, 1306 South Moniteau.

Fires In the City

Police were called to the MFA building, Mill and St. Louis, where a thief had broken into the building by prying off a book from the south door. When officers arrived, the man had already disappeared from the place. He was trailed up the railroad tracks to Washington, where he left the tracks and his footprints were lost.

The thief stole ten cents from a desk drawer, $1.15 from a money box, and 25 cents from a soda pop machine.

The call was received at 10:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Jaycees Hear Facts About Income Tax

The Sedalia Jaycees got some timely reminders about income tax Thursday night from their guest speaker, Lacy P. Belt, Internal Revenue Service agent in Sedalia. He was introduced by Rick Fullerton, program chairman, also of the Sedalia office.

Belt stated that anyone earning at least $600 a year should file a return if he is under 65, and anyone over 65 should file if his annual income is at least $1,200.

He said that the short form card 1040-A could be used for incomes up to $10,000, whereas until this year the limit was $5,000. Anyone wishing to itemize deductions instead of using the standard deduction should use the long form 1040, he said.

Belt prefaced his talk by saying that the tax laws are passed by Congress, and that the Internal Revenue Service is merely an administrative service seeking to make sure that all tax due is paid and that no one pays more than is required. He said that the Sedalia office is usually open the 15th and last day of every month, but that during this present time when returns are being filed in quantity the office is also open on Mondays.

He said that his work and that of the two other Internal Revenue men in this area consists mainly of helping with specific problems rather than in generally making out returns for the public, as in the past. Belt stated his biggest challenge is determining the facts on which to base his or her answers, and described his per obstacle as the person who telephones anonymously a request for information when it is obvious by the way he phrases his question that not all the facts are being given.

Belt asked the Jaycees to be especially careful that names and addresses are given accurately and clearly. He said a surprising number of people fail to do so.

Myron Lindquist, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

William D. Keim, Bothwell manager, operated the projection machine.

Club members were presented a weekly news bulletin in distinctive format arranged by the Rev. Walter D. Niles, editor, and John A. Garner, associate editor. Also distributed was the 1959 pocket directory of members and committee assignments.

President Sylvan Woolery called attention to Kiwanis charter night meeting at Eldon, Jan. 12, and Warrensburg, Jan. 13, requesting Sedalia members to participate by attendance at these functions. He also expressed the club's pleasure that Kiwanian Robert Gardner had become a member of the law firm, Martin, Gibson and Gardner.

Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist.

Invocation was by Dr. A. J. Campbell.

Dr. E. F. Rohlfing, new pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church was a guest of Chris Rouse; Bert Heacock, prospective new member, was with Dan Robinson.

Policeman's Wife Beaten In 'Payment'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The wife of a Kansas City motorcycle policeman was beaten last night by a tall man wearing a Halloween mask, apparently in retaliation for a traffic ticket issued by her husband.

Mrs. Norma Whitsell, 29, told officers that as the man hit her repeatedly with some sort of weapon, he shouted: "This is more payment for you."

Mrs. Whitsell was treated at Menorah hospital for face and head cuts and released.

She couldn't describe the man, other than to say he was tall, or identify the weapon he used.

The intruder cut the screen and smashed a glass panel in the kitchen door to gain entry to the Whitsell house. Whitsell was on duty. The couple's three children slept through the attack.

Whitsell said that since last Nov. 21, six windows in the house have been broken by stones. The last incident occurred Dec. 7. On several occasions threatening notes have been slipped into the house under doors. Police said one of the notes referred to the damaged windows as a part payment for a traffic violation fine.

Mrs. Whitsell was found by a neighbor, Richard Triado. The Whitsells don't have a telephone, and they had worked out an alarm system with Triado, whose house is directly behind theirs. If the back porch light was turned on, Mrs. Whitsell was in trouble. Triado raced to the house when he noticed the light burning, but got there about 15 minutes after the attack.

Mrs. Whitsell said she heard the intruder smash the window and went to investigate. The man cornered her in the kitchen.

Aviation, Military Affairs Division Works for Unity

Extremely active during the past year has been the aviation and military affairs division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which D. Kelly Scruton was director, with James T. Denny as his general chairman.

The unity of efforts between Whiteman Air Force Base communities has become a reality to the point that increasing cooperation and understanding between the cities of Warrensburg, Windsor, Knob Noster, LaMonte, Holden, Clinton and others has been experienced. The Whiteman Air Force Base Community Council, in which Sedalia participates, carries on in an excellent manner. The communities are being requested to assist bringing up to date the day rooms of the various squadrons and some work has been accomplished toward this goal.

Although the division met with little success on the 16th Street Road project of having it established as a federal road, the road is being used constantly as a shortcut by the Whiteman Air Force Base personnel living in Sedalia and continued efforts should be made on the federal road project or an improved state highway, if possible, Scruton pointed out.

Under this division were three committees, the good will committee, with G. Dare Whitaker and Dan Robinson as co-chairmen, the housing committee, Dan Jones, chairman, and the airport committee, Bill Padgett, chairman.

The good will committee sponsored an area program the past year for the Armed Forces Day program, with every community cooperating to the fullest extent. At this meeting, Maj. Gen. Robert B. Landry of the United States Air Force, Washington, D.C., was the principal speaker, with U.S. Sen. Stuart Symington, who made it possible to obtain the general as a speaker, giving the introductory talk.

The good will program also includes working with Whiteman public information officers to acquaint the Air Force families with Sedalia facilities.

The housing committee has kept in close touch with the Air Force. Chairman Jones has not only attended several meetings at the base, but has also made individual personal calls on Air Force personnel to encourage Sedalia as their home during their assignment at Whiteman.

The airport committee, with the direction of the entire division, has had a heavy load during the past year.

First, through the efforts of the Chamber secretary-manager, Jack Faber, many hours were spent in compiling an outstanding economic exhibit to be presented to the Civil Aeronautics Board. The purpose of the exhibit was to obtain certification of scheduled airline service for Sedalia. This brochure, according to Scruton, as now compiled not only is an outstanding exhibit for the Civil Aeronautics Board, but can be of great value to industrial prospects.

Through the cooperation of the Sedalia Memorial Municipal Airport board, the direct expense for reproducing the exhibit was made possible without expense to the Chamber of Commerce other than the actual labor of the office staff.

The airport committee also inspired the city to obtain the services of an airport consulting engineer to bring the present master plan of Sedalia's airport up to date. Further progressive steps can now be taken without any questions of correctness confronting the efforts.

The Ozark Air Lines, said Scruton, have contacted both the city airport committee and the Chamber committee in regard to service to Sedalia on their schedule in both directions between Kansas City and St. Louis, giving Sedalia connections to the west, east, north and south in the near future.

Scruton expressed the appreciation of his division, his committee chairmen and members of the committees, for the excellent cooperation they had received at all times from Secretary - Manager Faber and the office staff.

Police Probe Beating Of Marine's Wife

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police tried today to find why a shapely young wife of a Marine stationed on Okinawa was beaten, strangled and left nearly dead in a downtown office building.

Mrs. Trella Joy Carter, 18, a blonde office worker, was in fair condition early today after surgery for multiple face and head cuts.

She was found slumped on the floor of a shallow closet by an electrician at 3:40 p. m. Thursday. Clerks noticed the electrician after they noticed blood trickling down ceiling wire conduits into their fifth floor office.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz said the girl, semi-conscious and in shock, had been unable to talk to investigators. Doctors indicated the pretty mail clerk had not been raped.

Two patrolmen said the girl was found in a half-sitting position in the double-doored electrical locker, her face and shoulders blood drenched.

A length of flexible steel binding strap was twisted about her throat, the officers said, and her blouse, skirt and hose were torn.

Building electrician Nelson Payne, 33, told officers that when he pulled the girl from the closet that the metal strap on her throat touched a wire in the metal closet and caused a shower of sparks.

Building workers told police the girl was last seen about 55 minutes before Nelson opened the closet. Police said officers filled the first five floors of the building. But the sixth floor and those above still are under construction.

Fritz said no motive or definite suspects have been discovered.

Fritz said the girl formerly lived in Mount Pleasant, Tex., but now resided in nearby Grand Prairie, Tex., while her husband was in Okinawa with the Marines.

Color Photograph Of Local Woman Appears

A photograph of Mrs. O. G. Bolite, Smithton, appears as the full-color cover of the February issue of TOGETHER, the mid-month Methodist magazine for families.

Taken in a winter sport area west of Longmont, Colo., by her son-in-law, Ralph Castle, the photograph shows Mrs. Bolite sliding down a snowy slope on a sled with her young granddaughter.

Her daughter, young Jean Castle, had just fallen off the speeding sled. Mrs. Bolite visited Longmont last March for the birthdays of her grandchildren, Kristy, who appears in the photograph, was three years old; a grandson, Roger, was six.

Conclusion by Manager

Telephone Is Most Popular In Coldest Winter Climes

The colder the climate, the more popular the telephone.

That is the conclusion of Manager N. B. Pitcairn of Southwest Bell Telephone Co. in Sedalia after a study of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. statistics on who's talking, how much and where.

Geographically, the most talkative telephone area in 1957 was Alaska, with an average of 381 conversations per person. Little Iceland also ranked high, averaging 422 per person.

Many Delegates Will Attend Press Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl F. English, dean of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, said yesterday about 125 delegates from more than 25 countries are expected to attend the Press Congress of the World, to be held March 2-4 in Columbia, Mo.

The congress will be a high point of the 50th anniversary observance of Missouri's journalism school.

English announced that Byron Price, former assistant secretary general of the United Nations, will be director general of the congress. James Kerney Jr., former editor of the Trenton, N. J., Times, will be secretary general. Kerney said the agenda will include responsibility of the press, access to the sources of news and the flow of news between countries.

It will be the fourth such congress. The first was held in 1917, under the late Walter Williams, founder and first dean of Missouri's journalism school.

The delegates will arrive in the United States late next month. Each will be the personal guest of an American publisher or broadcaster and spend a week in the host's locality before the congress.

After the congress, delegates will go to Chicago as guests of Chicago publishers and the Chicago Press Club.

Later they will take a two-week tour of the United States as guest of the State Department.

The statistics also showed that the United States averaged 460 conversations per person, trailing the Canadian average of 497 and the Swedish conversation rate of 491, Pitcairn said.

An exception of the more-cold, more-talk rule-of-thumb was Alaska, which ranked second to Hawaii with 322 conversations per person.

The telephone survey recorded a total of 117,800,000 telephones in service in the world in 1958, a gain of almost 8,000,000 over the previous year. This information on the world's telephones has just been released for the current year.

Leading the countries having the largest systems was the United States with 63,621,000 telephones. The United States had 37 telephones per 100 population, compared with only four for the entire world.

Two cities—New York (4,204,007 telephones) and Chicago (1,800,103)—had as many telephones as there were in the huge continent of Asia, where more than half of the world's people live.

Washington, D.C., with 70 telephones per hundred persons, had the greatest telephone saturation for metropolitan areas. Stockholm, with 57, occupied first place among cities outside the United States. Moscow, with 454,000 telephones, had 9 per 100 population.

Pitcairn said all the figures relate to the beginning of 1958. It takes almost a year to gather the information.

We're Still Staggered

When you look at that new flag, it really hits home. Alaska, the 49th state, is no longer a proposed addition to the U.S.A. Its place in the union is a fact.

Even with all the mental preparation we've had, this thing will still take some getting used to. Texas isn't the biggest state any more. Surely the statute of limitations must have run out on a lot of Texas jokes.

California doesn't have the highest mountain in the country now either. Mt. Whitney has to bow to Alaska's Mt. Mc-Kinley, some 6,000 feet higher. Alaska, clearly, is going to steal the superlatives in many a field. Know any place colder?

Perhaps the hardest adjustment is realizing that a mammoth area today, part of this country, is detached from the other 48 states by some 1,500 miles. Kind of like building a huge addition to your house at the back of your lot 100 yards from the main place.

Just give us a little time, you Alaskans, and we'll digest this thing. After all, it's the biggest bite we've ever taken at once.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

White House Support For Halleck

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Able, popular James H. Smith Jr., who agreed to head the unpopular International Cooperation Administration after 20 others had turned it down, will soon collect his reward.

He has been promised a whirl as Secretary of the Navy, one of the most glittering jobs in Washington. With its go pomp, prestige, and the naval yacht Sequoia.

Smith has already dropped by the Pentagon to inspect his plush new office, guarded by gold-braided aides. He will replace Thomas S. Gates Jr., who was notified a few weeks ago that he would have to step aside to give someone else a turn as secretary. Gates was rather glad to get back to Philadelphia anyway. He has done an A-1 job in the Navy Department but is anxious to resume his job as a Drexel partner (J. P. Morgan), also as trustee of the University of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, he's a bit fed up with Eisenhower operations.

Smith, who will replace him, is the grandson of Vice President Levi Morton (Benjamin Harrison Administration), more famous as founder of Morton's salt ("it pours"). Smith served under Truman as special assistant secretary of the Navy and accepted the thankless job of foreign aid administrator under Eisenhower.

Unneutral White House

Despite pretenses of neutrality, the White House did not remain aloof in the bitter battle between Joe Martin, 74, of Massachusetts, and Charlie Halleck, 57, of Indiana for the GOP leadership of the House. Ike et al pulled wires vigorously behind the scenes for Halleck.

In fact, the drive for Halleck was launched about six weeks ago at a secret White House meeting attended by Halleck and presidential aides Jerry Morgan and Jack Anderson. Former White House adviser Tom McCabe, Philadelphia tissue king (Scott's), was also present.

They planned the strategy for the Halleck campaign, decided to canvass the 133 House Republicans for the necessary votes to unseat Martin from the leadership post he had held for 20 years. The canvassing job was then turned over to three Halleck adherents—GOP Congressmen Robert Wilson of California, Gerald Ford of Michigan, and John Byrnes of Wisconsin.

This trio began a barrage of long-distance telephoning to GOP colleagues, most of them at home for Christmas.

The anti-Martin campaign reached a climax at a big "pep" session several days ago at the congressional hotel, attended by 35 Halleck supporters.

Halleck showed up as the secret confab was ending, with a press statement he had already written, announcing his candidacy.

"This isn't a liberal-conservative fight, like we are witnessing in the Senate," he told the meeting. "It is a fight for more aggressive, more positive leadership than we have been getting in the House. Joe Martin promised me four years ago that he would step aside as leader. I'm ready now to put the issue to a test. I believe I have the votes to win, but, win or lose, I intend to stay in this fight to the bitter end."

Related Phone Calls

Martin forces were also busy—belatedly. Martin phoned numerous colleagues, pleading for support. He even went to the extent of phoning GOP Rep. Frances Bolton of Ohio while she

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

GOOD NEWS FROM FRANCE — General De Gaulle is now President of France.

He reminds me of V.P. Nixon, who should be the next President of the United States.

De Gaulle seems embarrassed by the size of the votes for his program. He didn't squeeze through; he galloped to victory.

The French Commies took the worst beating ever known in the French Republic. This must have been a big jolt to Communism all over the world.

Let's take a closer look. Before the French elections, the Reds had 149 seats in the last National Assembly; in the next, they'll have 10. Other leftist groups took a similar wallop while De Gaulle's party (Union for the New Republic) and the conservative independent Republicans, between them, collected 320 of the 465 seats allotted to Continental France. Now France has her chance to become a strong nation again.

France was lucky. She had a man who refused to quit. May the defeatists in our country take notice!

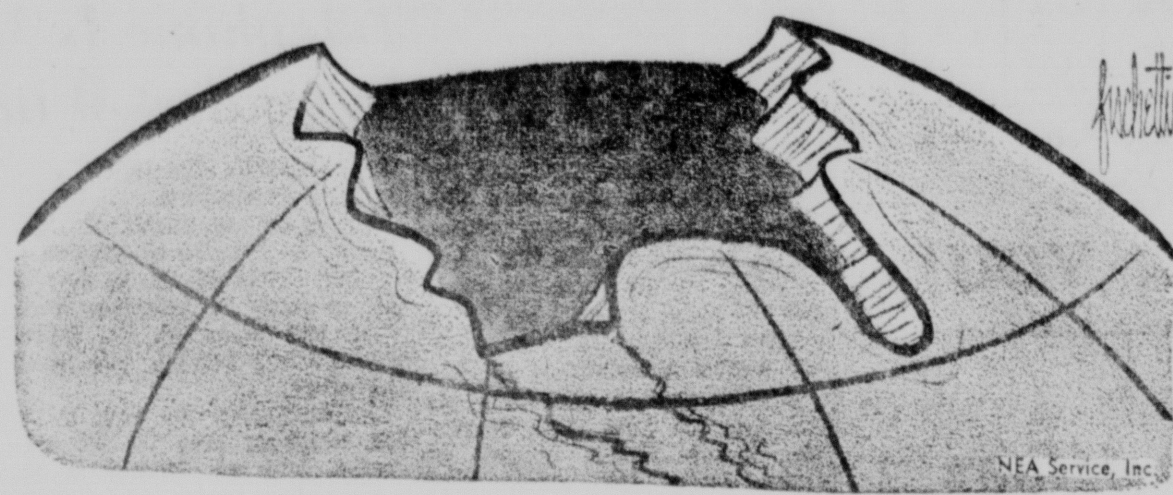

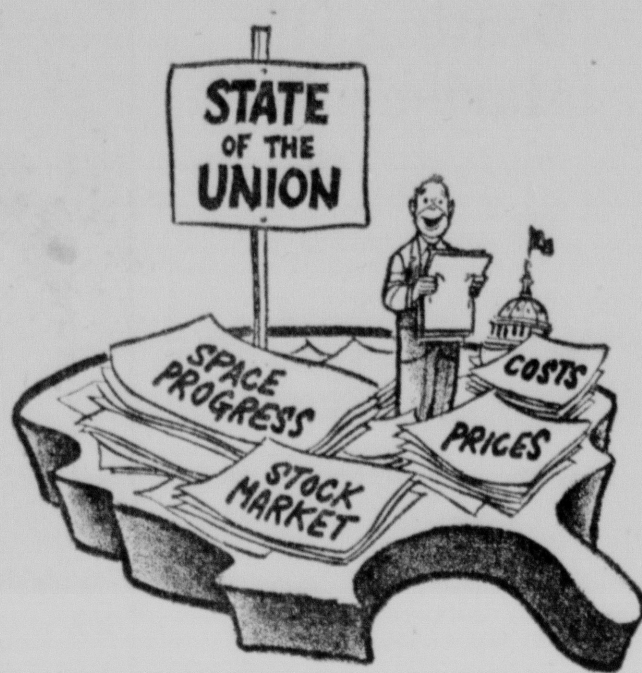

Weakness cannot cooperate with anything; only strength can cooperate.

Should England, France, West Germany, Greece, Turkey, Belgium and the United States ever disassociate, then Russia will add millions more to her captive slaves, now nearly one billion.

The old heavyweight champion, Bob Fitzsimmons, said: "Never give up the fight because you can't tell when the other fellow is going to quit."

The Honorable Samuel B. Pettengill, a conservative Constitutional Democrat, keeps saying: "Don't give up the ship!"

Now We Get Two State of Union Messages

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every year now the country is being handed what amounts to two State of the Union messages; one from President Eisenhower, the other from Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats.

Before Eisenhower could go up to Congress to deliver his today, Johnson had already stated his. He did it Wednesday at a Democratic meeting.

It's part of American history that at the beginning of each session of Congress the President tells the representatives and senators about the state of the union.

The message is in effect his program for the year. But it's up to Congress whether to make the program a reality with legislation.

Johnson, who denies he has any ambitions for the presidency, seems to be making his message an annual event, too. He did it last year before Eisenhower could travel up to the Capitol. Now he's done it again.

While Eisenhower's message might be considered the senior one and Johnson's just a junior message, both are important and for a very obvious reason:

In a Congress where the Democrats have an overwhelming majority over the Republicans, Eisenhower is going to have to depend mostly on the Democrats to put his program through.

But Johnson, as leader of the Democrats, is in a good position to push for his own program over Eisenhower's if he doesn't like what the President offers. This

Mrs. S. asks for a discussion of the difference between German measles and ordinary measles. It is generally understood, she says, that there are more bad effects from German measles than from the other type.

It is unfortunate that these two diseases have names which are so much alike. Both are almost certainly caused by viruses, but the viruses are different and infection with one does not stimulate the body to build resistance to the other.

By and large, measles is probably a more serious disease than German measles.

This statement must be qualified, however, because a mother who acquires German measles during the first three months of a pregnancy is more likely (but not certain) to have a child born with a congenital defect than a mother who does not have this disease at that stage of pregnancy.

Measles is not the simple, mild disease which so many people seem to believe. While it is true that most people who have it recover without serious complications, this is not always the case.

In fact, there are many years when more youngsters die from measles than from polio — and this was true before the development of the polio vaccine.

Measles also often causes serious complications such as bronchopneumonia or bronchitis. Even when mild, the 500,000 or so who have measles each year are kept out of school or other activity for quite some time.

The eyes, too, should be protected during the early acute phase of the disease to avoid complications.

The cause of measles is a virus. This tiny living organism is present in the secretions of the mouth and nose during the first few days when a person is "coming down" with the disease.

A sneeze or cough will carry the virus into the air where it can be breathed in by anyone else around. This makes measles especially contagious even before the skin rash appears.

It is difficult to avoid exposure once an outbreak of measles has started in a school, barracks or similar situation. If it does occur, one has to consider the use of a substance known as immune or gamma globulin. If this is given at just the right time to a youngster it tends to make the disease mild and still permit the body to build resistance.

I was greatly intrigued by a recent report indicating that the virus causing measles is remarkably like the virus which causes distemper in dogs and cats. The research study suggests that there is a common chemical element in the two viruses.

However, there are no records of a person developing measles from contact with an animal having distemper or the other way around.

The new year is only nine days old, but many will have already forgotten the resolutions we made. Some of us are back in old habits of unreal happiness.

Instead of writing off our resolves with a loss of moral integrity, we ought to save what we can for the gain column. Most of us are sobered by the past year, but we should not be so defeated that we throw our senses to the winds.

If we review our moral and spiritual gains and losses today, we can make better resolves tomorrow. There is still time to thank God for His care and gifts in 1958. We need His help and guidance for 1959.

A Superfluous Check

Filibuster Device Prevents Government From Governing

By Joseph A. Dear

Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — In thinking of the filibuster, which was the first issue that came before the Senate, keep in mind the maxim that a government which cannot govern loses its claim to legitimacy and invites its overthrow.

The filibuster is nothing more than a device to prevent the government from governing. It prevents action desired by the majority. It is entirely negative in that it merely postpones, and does not solve problems or resolve issues. It perpetuates them.

The issue of the filibuster, in the framework of today, involves the civil rights of Negroes, and nothing else. It would be very wrong to say that all Southerners are united in their determination to deny Negro citizens their rights, including the right to vote. But it is quite true to say that Southern Senators have used the filibuster, or the threat of a filibuster, to prevent action by the federal government which would make the guaranteed rights of Southern Negroes a reality.

And action is demanded when a state juggles the registration requirements so that professors of a respected college can't pass, or simply are denied the chance of taking, so-called "literacy" tests. Yet that is precisely the situation in Alabama, home of the world renowned Tuskegee Institute.

Apologists for the filibuster argue that its function should not be judged only in the framework of the civil rights issue. Ultimately, the filibuster is intended to defeat the tyranny of the majority. It is true that a majority can be grossly unfair, and that a hapless minority often is victimized because of transient emotions.

But can you think of a single instance where the filibuster has been employed for such glorious ends? Usually it is resorted to by sectional majorities which wish to preserve their dominance, as is the case in the South. Sometimes it is threatened by Senators who would defeat legislation personally obnoxious to them. (In the closing days of a Congressional session, such a threat has impact.)

There was hardly a protest when, during World War II, the government swept Japanese Americans on the West Coast into concentration camps. Doubtless this extreme measure did afford a degree of protection from sabotage. But it is a black mark still on the record of this Republic, which takes pride in living under law.

Judgments by the courts have served to rectify the harsh treatment of Japanese Americans. And the courts, under the American tripartite system of government, also serve to temper precipitate action by the legislature.

In short, the courts collectively are the flywheel that prevent the legislature and executive from running wild. The American system was designed so that each of the three divisions of government, can act as check on each other.

That being so, the filibuster which is an internal check within one of the divisions, is superfluous. It doesn't prevent unwise actions which are subject to checks from the executive and the courts. It unwisely prevents any effective action by one branch of the government, the Congress.

What is to be said of a Senate that has so little faith in its wisdom that it deliberately clings to rules and devices which prevent it from functioning except that it is inviting curtailment of its powers by refusing to exercise them?

Should Bankers Operate Free Investment Service

By FAYE HENLE

How much expert advice should my readers seek in order to handle their own affairs?

This question is one I've been asking the men that sell you insurance and mutual funds, stocks and bonds and mortgages. I popped this question at a couple of bankers, too, as we lunched in their pine-paneled dining room on Wall Street.

I did not realize that instead of receiving a direct answer I would set off a violent debate among this bank's economist and the head of its trust department—one of the largest trust departments in the country.

The economist contended that some folk have enough horse-sense to manage their own affairs without outside counsel, and do well at it.

The example he cited was a bus driver's wife, who via careful planning, was able to save between $500 and $800 yearly from her husband's pay. She invested this money, whenever she had $100 or so, in the common stocks of companies whose products or services she knew and enjoyed.

Her portfolio, without aid from Wall Street, consists of General Foods, General Motors, Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck and a couple of others.

She's held on to these, keeps adding to them though she has never heard of dollar averaging and has managed to pay her children's college tuition.

"Other people need to be told," said the economist. "They need a careful review by some skilled person of their budget and their insurance. They need to have a carefully tailored program to show them how to make their savings grow. I think banks should offer such a service for a fee of say $25."

My trust officer friend saw red. His objections to such a service were several. He insisted that already a majority of banks are rendering such services with skill and frequently without pay when clients asked for it. He objected to a paid service on the grounds that it might trespass legal territory. He objected toward promoting the free service that his institution was rendering on the grounds that it already was costing his bank money and he could not see how it could be extended much farther.

The economist contended that people take too lightly the services they get for free. He pointed out that they think nothing of paying for medical, legal and accounting services, that like the wealthy, they should pay some fee for financial advice.

This service would coordinate all their assets with a personalized plan to make these grow either via more insurance, a larger investment in real estate or in the securities market.

What thrilled me was the tremendous interest, the expenditure of time, thought and energy, the sincere desire of big-time bankers to help small investors throughout the country.

Plan Annual Banquet

The Deacons of the First Baptist Church will have their annual banquet Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the church dining room. The deacons wives will be special guests during the evening. A short program has been planned, with the male quartet of the church bringing a special number and each deacon and wife will be introduced.

First Baptist will begin a series of studies on the "Book of Mark," starting Wednesday. The pastor, the Rev. J. R. Wallace will teach the book.

First Baptist will place a great deal of emphasis on the musical program of the church during 1959. A new organ is being installed and will make a great improvement in the musical program of the church. The Adult and Youth choirs will number about 40, the Carol choir has 29 enrolled, and in the near future an intermediate choir will be organized.

Lary of Evangelism for Missouri Baptists, will be guest speaker at the Association Brotherhood Men and Boys Rally. The Rally will be held at the Calvary Baptist Church Monday, at 7:30 p.m. The Brotherhood will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday evening.

'Televangelism' a New Approach to Religion

The New Year ushered in the first nationwide spiritual revival ever based on a unique combination of television drama and the personal visitation of millions.

This "revival by television" launched the first cooperative effort of all six major Baptist groups since before the Civil War. It brings together 20 million members of more than 70 thousand Baptist churches to swell the movement which is widely reported in the nation's press as the "revival of religious interest" in America.

Called "Televangelism 1959," the unusual project presents 13 new, half-hour dramas in the well-known inspirational television series, "This Is the Answer," produced by Southern Baptists. Beginning on Sunday, Jan. 4, the drama on important modern-day problems will be seen on 13 consecutive Sunday afternoons on key television stations throughout the United States.

Although Baptist sponsored, "Televangelism" is basically a non-denominational effort, using the human-interest attractions of dramatic television to promote religion without "preaching."

S-C Tigers Vie With Jefferson City Tonite

The Smith-Cotton Tigers take on the first place Jefferson City Jays in a Central Missouri Conference game on the Jays' home court tonight. A preliminary contest pitting the B teams will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

The Tigers, victorious in only one of five efforts this season, will be spotting the Jays considerable height and experience. The lanky Jays are led by high scoring Bob Caine—holder of the Jefferson City single-game scoring record, and Jim Taylor.

In conference play Jefferson City carries a 2-0 mark. S-C has one win and two setbacks. For the season Jefferson City has chalked up six victories in eight games. Tuesday night the Jays handed the defending champion Columbia Kewpies a 48-42 defeat at the Capital City.

Saturday night the Tigers will host the towering Mexico Bulldogs on the Smith-Cotton hardwoods. Mexico, the pre-season favorite in the CEMO cage race, will be making its first appearance in league play. The Bulldogs have won four of seven games against non-loop opponents.

CMSC to Open MIAA Play Against Rolla

Flushed with this week's win over a team that had defeated them earlier in the season, Central Missouri State College's Mules take to the road today for their MIAA conference opener against the Rolla Miners Saturday night and Cape Girardeau Indians Monday night. The Mules go into conference play with a 3-win, 6-loss record of pre-league games following the Monday 73-59 victory over Pittsburg (Kan.) State.

Opening games on the longest swing of the season for the Mules will be with strong teams. The Rolla Miners, while only winning 3 of their 8 pre-season games, has John Sturm, highest scorer in the MIAA. Sturm has scored 198 points in 8 games and he has hit his soft shot almost twice as many times as his nearest rival, Jordan of Maryville. Ritter and Maybury of Cape Girardeau rank 6th and 7th in field goals by league team players to date. The Cape Indians, who have won 4 and lost 3 of their pre-season games, have 5 of the 15 high scorers in MIAA.

Coach Earl Keith is taking 12 men on the long trip into southeast Missouri. Travelling squad members are Parker, Dennis, Sandbothe, Bickham, Thornberry, Childress, Irvin, Strange, Sahn, Custis, Rodrick and Magness.

"We're in better shape than at any time this season," remarked Keith, "and our team has more depth now that Parker and Strange are off the injured list where they've been for more than a month. Strange's injured hand is still taped and Parker plays with his left shoulder taped. Both players are likely to see service against Rolla and Cape. We need all the depth we can muster for we need these first two games to stay in the conference running."

Paul Thornberry of Osage, high scorer for the Mules with 110 points to date; Robert Dennis of Kansas City and Russ Childress, Lee's Summit, were high Mule scorers against Pittsburg this week. The Mules took that game after trailing 35-36 at halftime.

Next home game for the Mules will be January 15 against Lincoln University and the first home conference game is against Maryville January 24.

There are two points, however, that were considered likely to cause some wrangling.

First would give a 3-man eligibility committee complete authority to rule upon eligibility of any athlete for intercollegiate athletics. At present, this power is held only by the Council. Appeal from an eligibility committee ruling would be to the Council. The committee would rule only on eligibility questions submitted by member institutions, but opponents of the proposed amendment feel it may be vesting too much power in a small group.

The other proposed amendment that could cause a fuss dealt with recruiting. It would prohibit institutions from providing preparatory education to prospective athletes, but would make specific exemptions for the service academies because of their stiff entrance requirements.

Amendments to create a national championship tournament in soccer and to give small colleges more representation on the various rules committees were also on the agenda. Both were expected to ease through harmoniously.

Louis Gabert is the team's leading scorer with 142 points in 11 games. Donnie Flippin has scored 120 points—good for second spot in the Pintos' offensive. Top rebounders are Jerry Pace and Donnie Flippin. Gary Wineland, one of the Pintos' leading rebounders last season, has missed most of the season with a pulled ligament in his knee. However, Wineland is showing improvement and is expected to see more action during the second half of the season. Louis Gabert leads in assists.

The Pintos lead the Tri-County Conference with a 5-0 record, followed by Osage, 4-1; Versailles, 4-2; Eldon 3-3; Tipton, 2-2; Camdenton, 1-4; and Stover, 0-5.

California's over-all record is 10-1. Their lone defeat was by Versailles in the semi-finals of the Tipton Tournament. The Pintos play their next game at Camdenton Friday night.

Orlando Cepeda Is National's Rookie of Year

BOSTON (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, heavy-hitting first baseman for the San Francisco Giants, today was named the National League's rookie of the year for 1958.

The 21-year-old Puerto Rican was a unanimous choice for freshman honors in balloting by the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

Cepeda, a husky 6-2, 200-pounder from Ponce, P. R., won a berth with the Giants last spring after a sensational 1957 season with Minneapolis of the American Assn.

Cepeda gathered the votes on all 21 ballots counted under the supervision of BBWAA secretary-treasurer Hy Hurwitz. Three writers in each of the National League cities were eligible to vote but three ballots were missing.

The son of a former Puerto Rico League player, Pedro Cepeda, the young San Francisco slugger kept the Giants in the thick of the pennant race until late in the season.

Cepeda, who bats and throws right, wound up with a .312 batting average, seventh in the league, 25 homers and 96 runs batted in. He had 309 total bases, including 38 doubles and four triples, to rank fourth behind Ernie Banks, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron in that department.

Mount Dhaulagiri, 26,811-foot mountain in the Himalayas, is the world's highest known unconquered peak.

Jimmy Brown Is Man With Mission In Ninth Annual Pro Bowl Game

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jimmy Brown is a fullback with a mission in Sunday's ninth annual Pro Bowl football game.

The explosive Cleveland Brown fullback who leads the charge of the East's brigade would like nothing better than to erase his poor showing in last year's game.

Brown, who set a National Football League rushing record of 1,527 yards last season, was held to a stinging 38 yards in 15 carries in the last skirmish of the NFL's inter-league feud.

This year Brown will be in a backfield directed by Norm Van Brocklin, who came to the Philadelphia Eagles last season from the Los Angeles Rams.

Rounding out the East's backfield are Frank Gifford and Alex Webster of the New York Giants.

The East goes into the game a 6½ point underdog.

The West has won five of the eight games, including the past two. The East has won three.

Top US Golfers Cross Border for $20,000 Pot in Tijuana Open

TIJUANA, Mex. (AP)—Uncle Sam's top professional golfers invaded the south of the border city today, seeking to pan Mexican gold out of the $20,000 Tijuana Open.

Virtually all the members of the tournament campaign were entered for today's opening round, the second stop on the 1959 winter trail.

The players tee off at the Tijuana Country Club, a long and hilly 7,400-yard course. Par is 36-36-72.

LaMonte Independents Beat Windsor 75-63

The LaMonte Independents gained sweet revenge Thursday night as they whipped the Windsor Independents, 75-63, on the LaMonte court. Windsor defeated LaMonte by 30 points recently in the Windsor tournament.

Trailing 33-30 at the half, the host team hit a hot streak in the third quarter to command a 55-44 lead, then fought off a Windsor rally in the final period to preserve the victory.

Charlie Files was LaMonte's big gun as he rammed in 24 points while the Burke boys, Larry and Bob, contributed 16 each. Thompson led Windsor's offensive with 20 points, followed by Glass with 19.

The victory gave LaMonte a 14-7 season record.

Score by quarters: LaMonte 18 12 25 20—75; Windsor 21 12 11 19—63. LaMonte scoring: Files 24, Harvey 12, Holsknef 4, Dorrance 2, L. Burke 16, B. Burke 16. Windsor scoring: Brooks 12, Glass 19, Thompson 20, Wallace 4, Schwartz 7.

Wizards Find Range, Trounce Bunceton 92-72

The Western Auto Wizards found the range in the second quarter Thursday night and rolled to a 92-72 victory over the Bunceton Independents on the latter's floor. The triumph upped the Wizards season record to 11-4.

With a meager 16-15 first quarter lead, the Wizards' well-balanced offense began to click in the second period and they raced to a 43-35 halftime margin and sailed home without a threat.

Ray Homan and Jim Fall were the big point-makers for Western Auto with 22 and 20 points respectively; however, Bunceton's Rich Maloney snared game scoring laurels with 25. Lew Woods and Salzman bucketed 14 each for the losing cause.

The Wizards take to the hardwoods again tonight as they meet Windsor's powerful Independents on the Horace Mann hardwood.

Score by quarters: Western Auto 16 27 27 22—92; Bunceton 15 20 23 14—72. Western Auto scoring: Jack Peterson 9, Bob Bennett 3, Ray Homan 22, Dick Thomas 8, Charlie Newman 16, Jim Fall 20, John Sierker 14. Bunceton scoring: Maloney 25, Woods 14, Parkhurst 3, Odean 12, Brandes 4, Salzman 14.

Big 8 Representatives Approve Increasing Number of Officials

CINCINNATI (AP)—Big Eight Conference faculty representatives yesterday approved increasing the number of officials at conference football games next fall to five, executive director Reaves Peters announced.

The representatives are attending the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Earlier attempts to get the conference to add the fifth official—a back judge—were reported to have been opposed by Big Eight coaches.

Other major football circuits have five officials.

'Murder Butch' Plan Shatters In Semifinals

PERTH, Australia (AP) Barry MacKay's plan to "murder Butch" came a cropper today.

"Butch" is 18-year-old Earl Buchholz of St. Louis who upset his Dayton, Ohio, rival in the semifinals of the Western Australian Tennis Championships, 10-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Young Buchholz thus qualified to play Spain's Andres Gimeno for the championship on Sunday. Gimeno gained the final round by default from the U.S. Davis Cup star, Alex Olmedo, who withdrew because of a strained stomach muscle.

MacKay, a 6-4 cannonballer, declared before he took the court against Buchholz that "I will murder Butch and then I will get my revenge on Gimeno." The Spaniard had beaten the Ohioan earlier at Melbourne. It didn't work out that way. Buchholz, regarded as one of America's finest prospects, was all over the court. He scored with sharp passing shots on both sides, flicked tricky drop shots just over the net and angled volleys out of reach of the bedeviled MacKay.

Armstrong Hopes to Win Over Dixon

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene (Ace) Armstrong, unbeaten Elizabeth, N. J., middleweight, hopes to solve all Eddie Dixon's problems tonight by sending the Newark policeman back to his midnight-8 a.m. beat.

Dixon, torn between the comparative security of a $4,600 patrolman's job and the lure of a potential $20,000 a year in the prize ring, probably will make his decision after tonight's fight at Madison Square Garden.

At first, Dixon said he had decided to pound a beat rather than take his chances in the ring. The next day he changed his mind and announced, "I'm going to fight." In the meantime, he has been walking the beat, working out in his spare time.

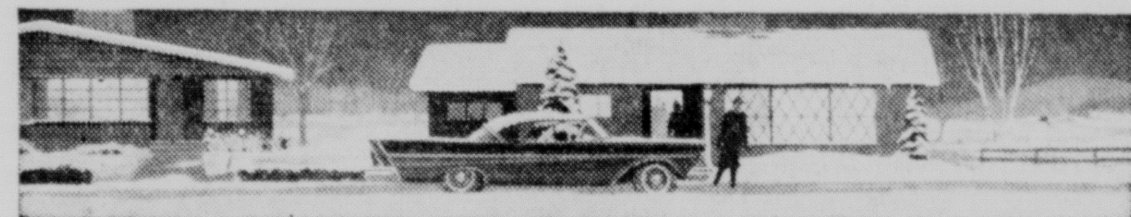

Joseph F. Weldon, Newark police director, had informed him that the rules of the department prohibit any member from engaging in any other business. He pointed out that fighting was another business.

Advised of Dixon's decision to go through with the bout, Weldon refused comment. It is expected he will have something to say after the fight.

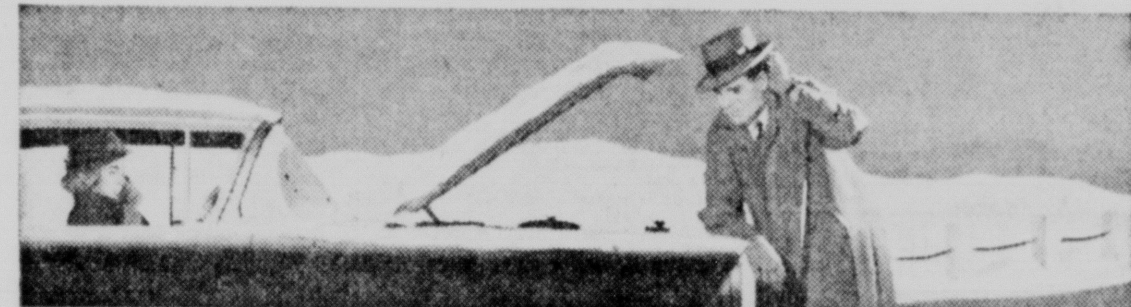

If the odds favoring Armstrong are right, it may be that Dixon will be happy enough to go back to the beat, forget fighting. Armstrong has a perfect 15-0 record.

Nothing was said when Dixon, who has been on the Newark force for about nine months, appeared in the Garden in two semifinals. Victories over Bobby Gordon and Eddie Thompson earned him his first main event and the $4,000 TV guarantee that goes with it. He also gets a share of the gate, but that probably won't top $1,000.

Symington Backed By Independence Paper
 INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — paper in the country to do so. Sen. Stuart Symington is being backed for the presidency by the Independence Daily Examiner, which believes it is the first news-
 The newspaper had this to say in endorsing the Missouri Democrat for president in 1960:
 "These are precarious days and they will remain so. We need a man with vision, fortitude and common sense, such as Senator Symington, and we herewith throw his hat in the presidential ring with force and the belief that he is the man of the hour."

 TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Like to talk in generalities? That's okay if you don't believe them—otherwise it may be an indication of social maladjustment.
 That's the conclusion of Dr. Walter F. Johnson, education professor at Michigan State and president of the American Personnel and Guidance Assn. His findings recently were announced by Michigan State and Arizona State.
 He said a language test devised to indicate social adjustment contained 100 statements with such phrases as:
 "Iron is strong. A circle is round. A leaf is green. Humans can talk."

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

An appalling aspect of life today in this supposedly progressive 20th Century is the extent to which the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill" is disregarded.

Historically, of course, the commandment has been flouted in formal wars, assassinations, murders, and in various forms of negligent fatal circumstances and accidents. But a present aspect is a deep and apparently increasing disregard of the value and sacredness of human life.

That human life should be so appallingly disregarded is evidenced in the number of violent deaths.

But this decreased estimate of the value of human life goes beyond acts of violence in much of the public attitude in general and much of its reflection in the public press.

The slaughter on the highways, the wholesale fatalities of airplane disasters, the increasing deaths from explosives—these and other aspects of present-day dangers have made us so familiar with violent deaths on a large scale that we read and pass on.

It is an evidence of changed values, or of no value at all. Such deaths are simply taken for granted, with a passing tear of regret.

Human life must not stand in the way of "progress"; but undoubtedly far greater measures of prevention would be possible if the public were more vitally alerted to the tragedy, and impressed more effectively with the value of human life.

"Thou shalt not kill" should be brought home to every phase of organization and activity as well as to individuals.

The coming years of the 20th Century must in a sense rediscover and re-evaluate "Thou shalt not kill." A sad reflection is upon how ineffective the commandment has been from the time of Moses himself. Genocide, the killing of a whole people, has been the most terrible tragedy of our century in the effort of Hitler and others to exterminate the Jews; but genocide goes back a long way into history, and even into Jewish history.

Deuteronomy 2:34, Numbers 31:9, 17, and similar passages are grim items in that ancient record.

One likes to realize how much in contrast Jewish history with its ancient prophets and teachers stands out for the value and beauty of life, and above all the Life-Giver Jesus, who put upon life its supreme value. In contrast to the destroyers He said He had come to give life and to give it more abundantly.

A great constructive purpose is needed if we are to combat the almost cynical indifference to the destruction of human life.

We must not only take measures to restrain violence and insure greater protection against accidental deaths, but we must act to restore in positive ways the sense of the sacredness of life which to a large extent has been lost.

And to life itself we must bring a deeper regard for the higher moral values and finer relationships if life is to give evidence of its sacredness.

Life in itself is neither good nor bad, but what we make it, and the God who gave it intends that we should make it all that it can be. Jesus said: "Be ye perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."

Metropolitan Club Members To Hold a Reunion

Plans are moving forward on reunion meetings of the Metropolitan Club, which was one of the leading social groups of the 1920's and 1930's. A meeting was held Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce office, attended by several "old" members who discussed the plans.

The group voted to sponsor a stag dinner for all members residing in Sedalia and area on Jan. 26. They also voted to hold an "Old Met Club" dinner dance and set the date tentatively for Saturday night, April 4.

During the meeting, many incidents of the organization were discussed, especially the various dances which highlighted the holiday seasons for returning students from colleges who were members.

The dance planned will be known as their "Easter Dance," and some of the old decorations which have been stored away, still in good condition, may be taken out and used to bring back memories of those days of 25 and 35 years ago.

Raymond Roberts, a former president, conducted the meeting and read a list of members who had belonged to the club from as far back as 1919 up to the time the club broke up in the late 1930's.

Roberts asks old members to contact him and give him names of members whom they might recall and for old members to furnish the addresses of those who moved away from Sedalia and now live in distance cities.

Plans are also being discussed for a big reunion to be held in 1960 during the Sedalia Centennial.

Uriel Cecil of Whiteman who reported the car belonged to Sgt. Hudson.

Prestegard is being detained in the city jail.

A De Molay pin was found in front of the Masonic Temple by the police. Owner can get it at police headquarters.

Ducks Ruffle Union Feathers; Tybee Laments TV Treatment

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — On one of his recent Saturday night shows, Dick Clark had a bunch of ducks as props. This was a nice idea, but it almost created a big union problem.

Who had jurisdiction over handling ducks? After representatives of all the unions were consulted, it was finally determined that if the ducks were dry, the carpenters would handle them, but, if they were wet, they became the electricians' responsibility.

Don't ask why. Nobody knows.

What television needs is a school where they would teach directors and producers how to handle dancers on their shows.

This is the request of Tybee Afra, a dancer who's been burned.

"My act was almost ruined on 'The Ed Sullivan Show,'" says the tall and lithe brunette. "Marlo Lewis kept wanting to change the tempo, cut out important parts of the act and all that."

Tybee's act, sometimes with and sometimes without a partner is generally a smash in clubs. And she felt that its history of success should be enough so that TV directors would keep their hands off—at least, not do anything drastic to it.

She says that television dancing is the easiest of all, because you only have to cope with the camera. In night clubs or theatres, you have a live audience, and that means distractions.

"You have to hold a live audience," she says. "I do it with a look on my face."

Her figure doesn't hurt, either.

On January 13, Dave Garroway will have the fourth in his sporadic series on mental health on his "Today" show over NBC-TV. This one, "Mental Illness in Soviet Russia," is one of a group of 13 Dave has planned over a long period of time. The date is one day before his eighth birthday on the show.

TYBEE AFRA (and friend):

His interest in the subject of mental health is a long-standing

one. He's a public-spirited type and felt that this was one area where he could do some good, one subject where his abilities at bringing the facts home to a vast audience could be put to a purposeful end.

And so, over a year ago, he and Dr. Paul H. Hoch, New York state commissioner of mental health, established the Psychiatric Research Fund. And he began doing shows about mental health on "Today." In preparation are other offerings in the series, programs with such provocative titles as "Crime and the Mentally Ill," "Alcoholism and the Mentally Ill" and "The Relationship Between Mental Illness and Religion."

Garroway does considerably more than merely front for the Fund and for his series. He's actively interested in the subject, and found office space for the Fund in the same building that houses his own office. Almost daily, he drops into the Fund's office "to see how things are going." And the Fund staff drops into his office, too.

Television, through programs like this, can illuminate many areas. Dave Garroway is a good man to have on our side.

There's more to delivering a sales pitch on TV than delivering a sales pitch on TV.

When these commercial gals sign up, they frequently find they are being used as all sorts of things, besides appearing on camera. That was one reason why Polly Bergen quit as the Pepsi-Cola girl; she found she had no time for anything else.

Julia Meade is currently one of the busiest of the breed. And, even though it may only take her eight minutes a week to deliver the commercials, she's so busy with other things for the sponsor that, in '58, she was only able to spend about 14 consecutive days at home.

She traveled more than 100,000 miles, visiting sales conventions and various exhibitions. She unveiled new products, posed with all kinds of executives, introduced speakers at dinners and generally made herself useful. She also made about $150,000 in the process, which helped defray wear and tear.

But she also learned to pooh-pooh anybody who said—as they frequently do—"My, what an easy life you have."

Program On Delinquency

NEW YORK (AP) — Innumerable people are forever uttering innumerable words on the subject of juvenile delinquency. But producer Robert Northshield defined the problem from the viewpoint of youths the other day:

"Their problem is that they have 24 hours in a day to fill. And how do you pass a day?"

His observation is the result of six weeks he spent recently in Detroit filming and taping a television report on a successful battle against delinquency there by an organization called Youth Anonymous.

ABC-TV will present an hour report on "Youth Anonymous" on Monday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m. ABC News chief John Daly will head a group of newsmen who survey the methods being used in Detroit to resist juvenile delinquency.

Northshield explained that Youth Anonymous, headed by an ex-convict, Ernest "Tip" Rumsby, aims to aid the 15 per cent of "hard-core" troubled youngsters who normally cannot be reached by other organizations.

One of the most interesting aspects of producing the report, in Northshield's opinion, was how he and a camera crew won the confidence and respect of three troubled youths in order to record the way they spend a typical day.

"At first they tried to shock us," Northshield said. "But we laughed at them or ignored them. I grew up in Chicago, and being a tough kid in Detroit doesn't impress me at all."

Program On Delinquency

"Basically the kids were trying to make the simplest things complex simply to kill time. That is their problem — killing time."

Diana Dors says that in the world of television production the Americans are far more calm, cool and collected than the British.

Miss Dors who flew in the other day to appear next Sunday on the NBC-TV Steve Allen Show, commented on the differences in TV in her homeland and the United States.

"Television here is much more relaxed and efficient than it is in Britain. Everybody's on the ball and not the least bit frantic. Probably it's because Americans have had more experience with TV. With us at home it's a newer medium and there's still a good deal of bother and excitement with it production-wise."

Eggheads May Not Like It, But TV's Gone Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Television may have been "The Light That Failed" as a medium to spotlight the artistic, the intellectual and the educational, but it is the light growing ever brighter for the entertainment factory called Hollywood.

That the nation's TV viewers prefer what a network executive calls "the belt-line, machine-made junk" of Hollywood to the "new ideas of sensitive, creative people in live television," is reflected, says Hollywood with nary a blush, in:

* The public's rejection of live TV in favor of film, even Hollywood's old movies.

* The rise of the ABC network primarily through the use of film, to split NBC-CBS audience control.

* The growing number of TV fans. The biggest audience in TV history for regular scheduled shows —70,000,000 in 44,000,000 homes —tuned in at 8:30 p.m. on the first Sunday of last December.

* The growth of independent, non network TV stations through use of film.

* Hollywood, with its film, replacing New York, with its live shows, as the TV capital.

The level of today's TV — "pap" to the minority but popular and acceptable to the public majority according to the number of viewers —has widened the split between the proponents of "creative intellectual" TV and Hollywood "commercialism." It is the old argument of live vs film TV, brushing aside the fact that what is good is good whether live or on film.

Dedicated intellectuals voted out of TV programming control by the dial-turning public have worthy arguments. They lament that TV viewers as a majority prefer "Maverick" and "Gunsmoke" to programs that would alert them to the perils of communism, the need for higher educational levels in the U. S., the problems of juvenile delinquency and a broader understanding of the world's ills through panel discussions and "message" dramas.

There is a growing fear, they say, that "shoddy programs" will reduce the TV audience. They lament the loss of the hour live dramatic shows, which they remember as "the showpieces of TV."

In reply, Hollywood and TV sponsors argue:

* The public voted down TV's

"sensitive, creative" people and turned to film, even old movies, because their live TV programs were "too intellectual for mass audiences."

* The average live dramatic show was a live nightmare about, according to one director, "a hare-lipped boy who fell in love with a club-footed girl and their desire to escape from a Brooklyn attic to create a race of club-footed people with harelips."

* The continued wails about TV programming, while audiences are bigger than ever, is because the intellectual elite can be as hide-bound by a set of prejudices as the masses. To the intellectual, NO program is worthy of praise unless it happens to be Omnibus or Edward R. Murrow.

While the intellectual, Hollywood points out with respect, has no axe to grind, the network executives calling Hollywood telefilms "beltline, machine made junk" do have a very important axe to grind —survival.

The networks are losing control of TV programs, and facing bigger and bigger competition from non network TV stations, because of film.

As any TV film producer in Hollywood will tell you:

"When it is on film you don't need a network. The networks not only are losing control of TV programming, they even lose control of their networks. We don't need a leased wire to send a film show to Chicago. We can send it there by airmail, and many of us are doing just that."

So because the public knew what it wanted, and tuned it in, TV moved to Hollywood and film. Whether the programming improves, depends on Mr. and Mrs. TVviewer, says Hollywood.

"The public will accept what they like and reject what they do not like, whether it is live or on film. Every time a program is rejected by the public, there is bound to be improvement in the program replacement."

Embarrassing Moments of TV Stars

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people admire polished performances, but the whole world loves a boo-boo. Television had its share in the year just past—and can look forward to more as long as people remain human.

TV performers sometimes confide in close friends their most embarrassing moments on the air. But it took Jack Paar to rebroadcast his to the entire nation.

Paar's memorable slip was the wayward commercial in which a medicine bottle blew its top and sprayed the entire panel of the program. Paar's cover-up remark, as he dried his face: "I told you this was the most powerful pain remedy on the market."

By reshooting the kines of some of his booboos to his NBC-TV New Year's Eve show, Paar may have started a new programming trend. There's certainly a backlog of material to draw from.

There was, for example, the production of "Macbeth" in which a stage hand was caught on camera as he set up a cauldron and thereby became the play's fourth witch. There also was the production in which an actor labored frantically to light a fire and finally gave up with a muttered "Damp wood!"

The most commonplace goofs are slips of the tongue. Nearly everybody has heard about the slip by a radio announcer of decades ago who said, "And now the President of the United States, Hoobert Her-ver."

NBC commentator Chet Huntley was thinking of that slip when he introduced Herbert Hoover Jr.: "And now to the rostrum, where we'll hear Herbert Hever... Hoobert Hoover... Hooper... er, Her-vah... Herbert Hoover Jr."

People frequently think the cameras are off them or the show ended before the moment has arrived.

At the end of the puppet show, "Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf," not long ago, a figure rose and ran across the stage before fade-out. ABC President Oliver Treyze, watching the program, yelled, "Fire that man!" He couldn't, because the man was not an ABC employee. He was master puppeteer Bill Baird, who thought the show had ended.

On the "Today" show a cake was knocked over and the frosting ruined just before it was to be used on a commercial. A propman rushed out to a nearby drugstore, bought a container of foam shaving cream, and gave the cake a tasty-looking but soapy frosting.

All would have been well if Dave Garroway had not taken an unrehearsed, unscripted bite. His grimace of disgust was seen across the country.

Refugee Mob For Mikoyan

Snowballs and Eggs Thrown In Detroit, But They Miss

DETROIT (AP)—A mob of screaming anti-Communist demonstrators surged against police lines Thursday night as Soviet Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan went to dinner with this automotive capital's top capitalists.

Snowballs were thrown. So were a few eggs. The Soviet leader was not hit. Police hauled in three men as egg-throwers.

The crowd, many of them Hungarians and refugees from other Iron Curtain countries, ignored President Eisenhower's plea Thursday for courteous treatment of the Soviet visitors.

Ike's Message Will Analyze The World

Much of Emphasis Will Be Placed On Financial Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's State of the Union message Friday actually will be a state of the world analysis keyed to the struggle against communism.

Much of the emphasis, the White House indicated Thursday, will be on the President's previously stated determination to maintain financial integrity at home while carrying on the battle for enduring global peace.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty stressed that Eisenhower also is determined to carry a fight for his legislative program and foreign policy proposals directly to the people—if the heavily Democratic new Congress balks at going along with administration plans.

The President will deliver his State of the Union message personally at a Senate-House session at 12:30 p.m. EST, Friday. The 40-minute report will be carried nationwide on all television and radio networks.

Hagerty said Eisenhower will leave most specific legislative recommendations for outline later in a series of special messages.

His budget proposals will be put before the lawmakers Jan. 19. The White House already has announced the budget to be submitted for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be balanced and will call for spending about 77 billion dollars.

That is less by about two billion dollars than estimated spending this year.

The last of the President's three major messages, the economic report, will go to Congress the day after the budget, Jan. 20.

As to Eisenhower's plans to carry the fight for his program to the people if necessary, Hagerty said the President is ready to set forth his views through all media—newspapers, radio and television, magazines, theater news-reels and at news conferences.

Asked about specific plans, Hagerty said those would be ready for announcement soon.

New Metal Signs At Elementary School Buildings

All Sedalia elementary schools now have new traffic signs stationed in the main-traveled street in front of the buildings calling attention to the zone being a school zone and the need for the drivers of motor vehicles to drive slowly.

The new signs are metal, with the outline of a police officer holding up one hand. The sign in front of him reads "Slow School Zone." The police officer is smiling and the signs are attractive warnings, the same as are being used through out the country at various schools.

The signs were made available by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Sedalia, of which Roy C. Woods, is president. They were presented to the Sedalia police department for use at all schools. The signs on the back side have a Coca-Cola sign on them.

There are 18 of the signs, all of which have already been distributed to the schools, both public and parochial.

The Missouri Hereford Show and Sale will be held here at the Missouri State Fair Grounds on Feb. 8 and 9.

The director of the agriculture division of the Chamber of Commerce, Clifford Barr, will present the Chamber of Commerce trophy to the owner of the champion of the show.

Shorthorn Sale Here

The Missouri Shorthorn Association will hold its annual spring sale in Sedalia on Saturday, Feb. 28.

TENTATIVE LOCATION OF U.S. ROUTE 65 IN SALINE & PETTIS COUNTY

PROPOSED HIGHWAY—Shown above is the tentative selection of the route for an improved Highway 65 north of Sedalia to Highway 40. The present route is shown in the solid line, and the proposed route is shown by the broken line. The purpose of the new route is to straighten out the many dangerous curves now in existence. It will include a new entrance to Sedalia, as shown, but highway department officials say a city route will be retained. Officials estimate the cost of the improvement at $2,778,500.

Filibuster Showdown Shunted Aside

Compromise Seen On Whether To Change the Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first showdown vote in the Senate battle over filibusters has been shunted aside until Friday.

But senators on both sides of the issue orated several hours longer Thursday, getting their views on the record.

A compromise was predicted. The question is whether to change the rules so as to make it easier to shut off filibusters—the endless talk weapon Southern Democrats have used effectively in the past to torpedo civil rights legislation.

Out of a long day of maneuvering and bickering came a decision to hold off until Friday the first key vote. This will come on a motion to table, and thus kill, a double-barreled proposal offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-Mn.) on behalf of a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats.

This would throw open the Senate rules to revision, with the objective of establishing that can be done at the start of a new Congress by majority vote.

Challenging this position are Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and the Southern Democrats. They contend the Senate's rules carry over from Congress to Congress because only one-third of the Senate's members are elected every two years.

He Names New Premier

De Gaulle Sworn In As French President

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle became president of France today and pledged to use his strong executive powers to keep the new Fifth Republic on the stern path he outlined as premier. He declared he would do what had to be done for the nation's good.

Immediately after historic inauguration ceremonies, De Gaulle set the new republic in motion. He named as premier Michel Debre, Gaullist lawyer and an unbending nationalist.

There followed an unmistakable sign that De Gaulle intends to continue his strict control over French affairs. Debre announced a new Cabinet that carried over most of De Gaulle's top ministers.

De Gaulle took office in the gilded Salon des Fêtes in the presidential palace, then drove to the majestic Arch of Triumph.

Thousands of Frenchmen lined the upper mile of the broad Champs Elysees to cheer him. Standing in an open car with outgoing President Rene Coty at his side, De Gaulle retraced the triumphal path he followed as leader of the Free French when Paris was liberated in World War II.

The 68-year-old soldier-politician became France's most powerful chief of state since Emperor Napoleon III, who was deposed in 1870.

About 200 of France's top figures ringed the Salon des Fêtes. They included chiefs of governments of the 17 autonomous republics of which De Gaulle is also president.

In the afternoon he worked at the presidential palace. But he sent word that his first night as president would be spent in the Hotel Matignon across the River Seine, where he has lived for the past seven months. His wife, Yvonne, had a quiet dinner waiting for him. She had seen the inauguration ceremony on television.

The tall general is expected to move into the palace apartments Saturday, when his special long bed is installed.

Railroad Merger Is Blocked

Central Directors Call a Halt To Further Studies

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans to merge the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads into one giant system smashed into a roadblock Thursday when Central directors called a halt to further merger studies.

The directors, meeting in Palm Beach, Fla., issued a statement calling for immediate "appropriate coordination of facilities" between the nation's two largest railroads.

Directors did not simplify this statement. It could mean joint use of duplicating facilities, such as freight terminals, passenger stations and rail trackage.

As for the proposed corporate merger, however, the directors said a study should be made that "would bring about in the East three or four systems of nearly balanced economic strength."

This wider study of a massive merger should take place before the Central and the Pennsylvania make any further steps toward their corporate merger, the directors added.

The merger study originally was announced by Alfred Perlman, president of the Central, and James Symes, president of the Pennsylvania, on Nov. 1, 1957.

There has been no official word on the progress of the studies since that time, although it has been known, and reported, that most of the top management of Central had grown less enthusiastic about the idea.

Symes issued a statement saying he was disappointed with the Central announcement.

A number of other railroad mergers are under study. The Erie, the Delaware & Hudson and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western have been discussing a merger for more than a year.

The Atlantic Coast Line is studying a merger with the Seaboard Air Line. Two coal carriers, the Norfolk and Western and the Virginian, are engaged in a similar study.

In the Midwest and Northwest, the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy are talking merger.

Sixteen Die In Wooden Home Fire

BOSWELL, Okla. (AP)—Fifteen children and an adult died today in a roaring fire in a four-room wooden home.

All the bodies except that of one child were piled on and around a bed in a rear room which had no outside door.

Apparently someone pushed the one child out a window but the child was dead.

The victims were Sara Gardner, 33; her 10 children; three orphaned nieces; and two visiting nephews from Oklahoma City.

All the victims were Negroes. Booker Gardner, the father, had been away hunting.

Almost in shock and his face haggard, Gardner, a Negro, walked about aimlessly, apparently unable to comprehend immediately the disaster which struck his family.

He said that when he started home from his hunting trip before dawn this morning, "I felt sorta funny."

He received the news at the farm home of Vernon Love, who drove him to the disaster scene.

Gardner told Tony Price, reporter of the Paris (Tex.) News, that he started on a hunt about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night and hunted all night. Hunting with him was a nephew from Oklahoma City, who was visiting in the home.

He listed the victims as: His wife; their 10 children: Juanita, 15; Easter, 13; Isaac, 11; Larry, 9; Louise, 8; Gwen, 7; Omie, 5; John Anthony, 2; and Patricia Ann and Patricia Jan, 6-week-old twins; and three nieces and two nephews.

The nieces, children of Mrs. Gardner's sister, May Ruth Haddix were: Bobbie Woodbright, 11; Peggy Sue Ward, 10; and Linda Fay Ward, 4. Mrs. Haddix was killed in an automobile accident last spring.

The two nephews, visiting from Oklahoma City, were: Hershel Frazier, 9, and Freddie Webb, 12.

Problem-Filled Legislature Takes Off for the Weekend

Members Have a Chance To Take Stock for Monday

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri's lusty young Legislature, two days old and already full of problems, took a weekend breather Thursday.

It gave the members time to recover from the frenzy of the opening and take stock before coming back Monday to settle down to the actual work of the session, sifting through bills and trying to reconcile a program of recommended improvements with the hard financial facts.

Both houses return to work Monday afternoon and for the House it will be a week already crammed with 16 committee hearings scheduled for the first three days.

That's the fastest start on committee work ever seen around these parts. In fact two House committees—judiciary and appropriations—met briefly Thursday but they were mostly get acquainted sessions.

Speaker Richard H. Ichord announced his committee appointments so the members could get set for the work ahead.

And he made it clear he meant business. He said a long standing rule, never invoked in recent years, would be enforced this session—if a member fails to show up for three straight committee meetings, the chairman can throw him off the committee.

Even in the first two days it became apparent there was plenty of hard work ahead. Seventy-two bills poured into the House Wednesday and Thursday and 21 were introduced Wednesday during a brief Senate session.

They included some of the governor's major recommendations, including bills to liberalize state welfare programs, advance the primary election date from August to June and set up a new state agency to control development of atomic energy in Missouri.

Some also contain the seeds of old controversies, especially the new effort by organized labor to repeal the King-Thompson Utility Anti-Strike Law passed in 1947.

This time labor spokesmen say they are confident they have enough votes to repeal an act they have always criticized as unfair.

Along with the governor's welfare bills, a number of others were introduced to loosen the welfare controls far more than he recommended—including several to let assistance clients live with relatives and still get state benefits.

Several full scale studies of pending governmental problems, also were proposed early. One would look into the whole tax structure of Missouri, the same as a proposal that was defeated last time. Another would survey the Missouri insurance code, which the governor said needs some revisions.

The House met only briefly Thursday then adjourned for the weekend. The Senate was in recess so members could attend the funeral of Sen. Michael Kenney's wife.

Sedalia a Focal Point in Show

TV Stars to Appear Here This Saturday

Sedalia will start receiving national attention each Friday night on CBS television stations all over the United States, it was revealed here today through the announcement of Mayor Abe Silverman and William C. Hopkins, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

A new one-hour TV western, "Rawhide," which is supplanting the Jackie Gleason TV show on Friday nights over the Columbia Broadcasting System will be seen and heard in Sedalia through Channel 5, Kansas City, and Channel 13, Jefferson City each Friday night at 7 p. m. starting tonight.

Sedalia will be a focal point in the story, "Rawhide," in that the TV story will center around the driving of cattle between the Texas cattle ranches to the city of Sedalia, which is the railroad point from where the cattle is shipped to the East. The weekly plots will have the usual gun play and hard-ships encountered by those who pioneered the West.

In order to promote the TV series, which is scheduled to run for a minimum of 40 weeks, Hollywood stars of "Rawhide" will appear in Sedalia all day Saturday. Cliff Eastwood and Eric Fleming, two rising movie stars, will be guests at a noon luncheon to be held at the Bothwell Hotel. Others who will play roles or to help produce the show will also be in the city with James Hardiman, CBS executive, coming to Sedalia Friday to help work with city and Chamber of Commerce officials in setting up Saturday's program.

At the luncheon Saturday, a showing of the first "Rawhide" series will be given. Concluding this, the film will be presented by CBS officials to the Pettis County Historical Society with George Scruton, president, accepting the film.

Efforts are being made this afternoon to arrange for a parade Saturday morning in which the stars of the TV series will ride. Further announcement will be made concerning the parade in tomorrow's Democrat-Capital.

Hardiman advised local officials that CBS executives expect the TV series "Rawhide" to receive the public favor as that of other popular western TV shows such as "Maverick" and "Gunsmoke."

Both Eastwood and Fleming are typed cast for the leading roles, with both young men being six feet four inches and having the ability of their counterparts in other favorite westerns.

Armored Cars, Tanks Escort Him

Havana Residents Give Castro Joyous Welcome as He Arrives

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Joyous Havana gave a tumultuous welcome Thursday to Fidel Castro, bearded conquering hero of the Cuban revolution.

The 32-year-old warrior entered the capital just a week from the day his 26th of July movement tumbled the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista.

In a last-minute surprise move, Castro left his motorcade approaching the capital from the east and landed by helicopter in an eastern suburb. Word that he was coming spread like wildfire and Havana residents poured into the streets.

The shouting rose to a great crescendo as Castro was spotted proceeding slowly in an open vehicle.

He was surrounded by armored cars, tanks and other vehicles. Horns honked incessantly, mingling with the steady roars of the people on foot. Impromptu military bands in big trucks poured out martial music.

Castro's warriors smiled broadly as they waved their rifles at the crowd, and posed for pictures. Confetti rained upon the rebel soldiers. For many it was their first visit to the glittering metropolis. They beamed proudly at their welcome, obviously enjoying the thundering welcome.

Practically all business in Havana came to a standstill. Labor Confederation leaders told all workers to turn out en masse for the welcoming ceremony.

Watchful militiamen patrolled the capital's streets. All liquor shops were closed to prevent the celebration from getting out of hand.

The civilian-clad militia has been performing all police duties in Havana since shortly after Batista fled New Year's Day. The police have been disarmed and a national police reorganization is reported in progress.

It is reported that one of Castro's first goals after taking over as Provisional President Manuel Urrutia's military delegate—in effect, commander in chief—will be to disarm the militia.

Castro's headquarters will be at Camp Columbia in a Havana suburb.

At Hubbard Grade School, as in all other Sedalia public school buildings, the fire safety inspection team found various discrepancies, and made resulting recommendations for correction to the Sedalia school board.

The closing of the flue openings in the basement and the patching of the wall in boys' rest room were recommended. An opening in the ceiling of the basement store-room should also be closed, the inspectors recommended.

The door to the paint and oil storage room should be lined with non-combustible material and a "No Smoking" sign should be placed on the door to this room, the report stated.

As there are no fire escapes on this building, and children are in the classrooms on the second floor, the firemen asked the school board to study the need for fire escapes on the west outside wall about the

Meet At Reine Home

The Tanglebrook Neighbors Extension Club held its Christmas party Dec. 18, with ten members present at the home of Mrs. Joe Reine.

Devotional was given by Mrs. John Bronson and Christmas carols were sung. Secret pals were revealed and new names drawn for the coming year.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Probably the most improbable name for a romantic young actor rapidly rising to stardom is—Smith. But Roger Smith is glad he has it after a studio tried to change it to something tricky—like "Smith Roger." Actress Victoria Shaw liked just plain "Smith" so much she married the guy, so she could have it, too. They have a little Smith, named Tracy.

John Crutcher

Address Knife And Fork Club

Russia means a visit to Red Square in Moscow, then a hurried dash back to friendly American soil, but to John Crutcher, an investment man from Kansas who had previously served in World War II and the Korean War, a trip to the Soviet meant trying to find out what makes the Russians tick. That, in turn, meant seeing the country from South to North.

For 15,000 miles Crutcher toured the Soviet, asking questions of the men and women workers, the lowly paid as well as the men who help form Red Policies. Most important interview was one of three hours behind the red brick walls of the Kremlin. That was with Nikita Khrushchev, as Crutcher puts it, "One of the most interesting conversations in my life."

An enthusiastic crowd of 430 persons attended the highlighted talk of last weekend's assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Moberly, R. L. Anderson of New York delivered the discourse Sunday afternoon at the municipal auditorium. Officials of the group said that the subject, "The Watch Tower Society in God's Purpose," evoked wide interest among Moberly area residents.

Anderson opened the discussion by saying, "The Watch Tower Society represents one of 265 groups in America. Our attention will be focused upon it because it has become widely known as the publishers of Jehovah's Witnesses. It has come into further prominence by staging the largest Christian convention ever held in the United States, and conducting a tremendous baptism service for 7,136."

In closing Anderson advised his listeners, "The Watch Tower Society is here to serve you now as a legal instrument dedicated to Jehovah's service."

Convention officials were pleased to announce that nine new ministers were baptized Saturday to signify their becoming ordained Christian ministers. They will take up their ministry in this area.

The rest of the program contained practical training sessions in house to house preaching techniques and also many scriptural facts for use in doorstep sermons.

Restaurant Here Sold to Former Cafe Operators

Beverly's Restaurant has been sold by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Carl, to Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Puckett, who formerly operated the Puckett's Cafe in Sedalia. The Puckett's first came to Sedalia in 1937 and operated their business at Second and Lamine until three years ago when they sold it to Dean Minger, and went to Springfield to reside. They returned here the first of the year and are now living at 314 South Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl, native Sedaliens, expect to stay in Sedalia. Ten years ago they opened their first restaurant at Sixth and Ohio, and named it Beverly for their young daughter. They were located at Sixth and Ohio for five years and then went in the new building, 1705 West Broadway, still keeping the name of Beverly's. They were there five years, too.

Now Beverly has grown up, finished her education and is teaching first grade in Raytown, and Mel and Emma Carl feel it's time to take a little time off to rest and do just what they want to do. Right now they have no plans, and don't expect to do anything for a couple of months, at least.

Ike Asks End To Demonstrations Against Mikoyan

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower called Thursday for anti-Soviet demonstrators to end their jeering, sign-waving demonstrations against Anastas I. Mikoyan, Russia's visiting deputy premier.

The White House appealed for courteous treatment of the Kremlin's No. 2 man as he arrived in Detroit. There were pickets at the airport but Mikoyan's escort avoided them by taking a round-about route.

The anti-Mikoyan demonstration in Detroit appeared less heated than those which boiled up in New York, Washington and Cleveland.

However, administration officials are reported fearful that demonstrators might become more and more violent as Mikoyan travels westward to Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles on his tour of the country.

In advance of Mikoyan's arrival last Sunday, Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov had expressed concern to the State Department over the prospect of hostile demonstrations.

The task of guarding Mikoyan has been vastly complicated by the Soviet Embassy's reluctance to give even State Department agents much advance information about his movements.

Treasury to Borrow 3.25 Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON — The Treasury announced Thursday it plans to borrow 3 1/4 billion dollars next week.

In its first offering of long-term bonds in seven months, it will seek to market 750 million dollars of 4 percent, 21-year bonds to be priced at 99 percent of face value.

At this price the bonds will yield about 4.07 percent.

Additionally, it will offer 2 1/2 billion dollars of notes bearing an interest rate of 3 1/4 percent but priced at 99 1/2 percent of face value to yield about 3.45 percent.

The 3 1/4 billion dollars total is 1 1/4 billion more than the Treasury had been expected to seek at this time.

Filibuster

bloke hope that, if they can open the rules to change, they can go on to write a rule to empower a majority of the Senate—50 members—to crush long-winded debate.

The present rule, now under attack, requires the votes of 66 senators, or two-thirds of the membership, to halt a filibuster. That's what the Southerners would like to preserve.

But the likelihood prospect is for a change that would let two-thirds of the senators present and voting bring debate to an end.

This is the compromise concocted by Johnson and a powerful array from the high command of Senate Democrats and Republicans.
